

$100,000 damages

Tornado rips county

Damages from a destructive tornado, which dipped out of a Sunday evening thunderstorm northeast of Hondo, are expected to reach the $100,000 figure. That estimate was made from observation of damages to giant oak trees, barns, power lines, livestock, and residences by the storm which literally cut a 15-mile swath through eastern Medina County from just northeast of Hondo to near Castroville.

Medina Electric spokesmen reported numerous lines, but no poles, downed in the storm area. Although no reports were received of destruction or heavy damages to a home and no one was injured by the twister, the path of destruction narrowly spared many frightened families and the sight of unroofed buildings and grotesque tree stumps is a common one in the New Fountain-Quihi area.

While a similar storm was causing the deaths of five persons south of Pearsall, this one caused as far as is known, the deaths of two cattle. However, those two, belonging to R. E. Browning, were worth an estimated $1,000 each.

Freakish events followed the storm which dumped up to two inches of rain and pelted some areas with golf ball-size hailstones.

The Jim Amberson farm north of Hondo had substantial damage to a barn, but the hay stacked inside remained undisturbed while the roof flew away.

The Marvin Niebuhr family of Quihi lost the entire roof and one wall of a barn, but the home was spared of any damage. The Niebuhr house is only about 50 feet from the barn.

Wherever the twister touched earth its path is marked by broken limbs of giant oak trees. Some were uprooted, others lost only the uppermost branches to the force of the wind.

Heavily damaged farms included the Amberson farm, the Herbert Decker property, where a garage was destroyed, the Niebuhr property in Quihi and the C. J. Pichots of Quihi. Damage was also reported at the John Poerner ranch north of New Fountain and the R. E. Browning place near Quihi.

The C. J. Pichots own property in the area of the storm and they report that no farm building is left standing on the property.

Bud Woolls reported that all buildings on his farm in the path of the storm were unrooted.

The John H. Poerner ranch north of New Fountain sustained substantial damage to all barns, and the house on that property was damaged beyond repair.

Biry area assured of water

With the release by Congress of $167,000, the extension of water lines of East Medina County Water Supply Corporation to the Biry area is assured, and further extension of the service into the Dunlay, Quihi area is a possibility.

Now the rural water supply corporation can extend service to an estimated 109 homes and farms in and around Biry, Sylvan Mangold, President of LaCoste, told stockholders.

"Bids will be taken on the work to be done just as soon as all necessary easements are signed," Miles Locke of Waco, engineer for the project, said.

Stockholders approved a resolution giving the directors authority to apply for a loan to extend the lines into the Dunlay and Quihi area, if the survey now being made indicates it is feasible.

It also was announced that persons in the Calame Store and Rancho Grande Road area who desire water should make application as soon as possible, since improvements are being made in the service in those areas at this time.

Mangold said the corporation

Ambulances

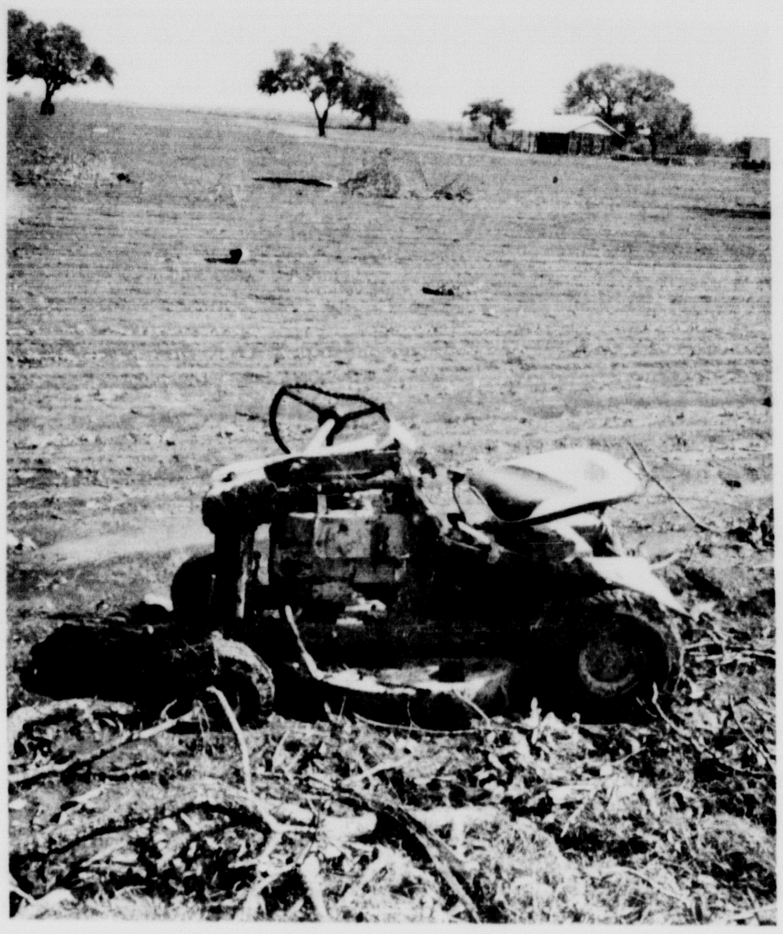

The Medina County Goals Committee of the Alamo Area Council of Governments (AACOG) met Tuesday night to hear further developments in the county's emergency medical services situation.

Bud Guinn, local funeral home operator who heads the Ad Hoc Committee on Emergency medical services, reported that progress is being made in finding an alternative to the present ambulance service.

Guinn reported that the Texas Department of Health has approved present equipment on ambulances in the county as adequate for the present. He added, however, that a volunteer organization would require ambulance crews to be trained in a strenuous and time-consuming program available only in San Antonio, for the ambulances to remain of adequate quality. Asked about a possible contract with the county, Guinn revealed that operations of an ambulance service by the funeral homes will soon be made illegal by the Texas Legislature.

While admitting that it would be impossible for most County volunteers, most of whom would be

LITTLE WADE HAUGER

. . . son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hauger is only four years old but he's already teaching the adults how to fish.

Or, at least, he did last week when fishing with about three of the past 30 experts.

It seems Wade was using a cane pole while his adult companions were using the latest rods and reels. The youngster hauled in three fair size fish and the others didn't get a nibble.

But Wade wasn't really satisfied. He told his daddy, "I need one of them poles that go round and round."

Ralph answered: "Wade, I bet if you asked them to, all three of these men would trade you poles right now."

BICENTENNIAL

. . . Celebration plans are conspicuous for their absence in most of the areas of the nation and Hondo is one of the cities among the absent.

However, some interest has been generated here with a survey made by the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce. The survey asked for any plans on celebrating locally our Nation's 200th Birthday so that they might be tied in with the Alamo City's plans.

San Antonio is seeking to be named the Bicentennial City in 1976 and wants all cities in the area to let them know plans for local celebrations so that all can be put into regional schedule.

Frank Graff and John Wentz feel that Museum Celebration Days could well tie into the theme in 1976 and by that time might be expanded to a larger celebration.

Representative John Poerner suggested several months ago that Hondo might build a pavillion at the Hondo City Park and dedicated it to the Bicentennial.

Red Gross and Judge Jerome Decker talked about some type of civic center for Hondo, a badly needed item for a city this size.

There surely are many more ideas floating around and sometime

Native Hondoan earns company 'first'

Hondo-born and Castroville-reared Jo Nell Tarvin has come home as Southwestern Bell's first woman group manager in the company's San Antonio area.

After having worked for the telephone company in Oklahoma City, Waukegan, Illinois, and San Antonio, she took over the business office in Hondo April 1.

"I think it's fantastic," says Mrs. Tarvin. "My new boss, Byron Maxwell, who is district manager at Uvalde, called and offered me the job sight unseen--we had never met."

The Castroville High graduate started her career with Southwestern Bell in 1964 as a service representative in Oklahoma City. Her husband, John, was employed by Montgomery Ward at that time. He was transferred to Waukegan and she became a service representative with Illinois Bell there. She held a similar job after their move to San Antonio in 1965, then was promoted to business office supervisor there four years ago.

As manager in Hondo, she supervises business office operations there and for Bandera, Campbellton, Castroville, Christine, Cotulla, Devine, LaCoste, Lytle, Pearsall, Pipe Creek, Pleasanton, Poteet and Yancey.

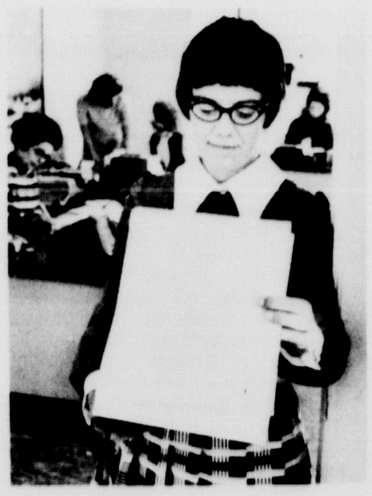

Her father, Joe Riff of Castroville, is employed by Medina Valley Elementary School. Her mother is Mrs. Dora Horner of Dunlay.

The Tarvins have two children, John, Jr., 8, and Terri, 6. Tarvin now is employed by Southwest Wheel in San Antonio and commutes to their new home in Castroville.

Asked about her ambitions as a rising female manager, Mrs. Tarvin replied: "I would like to continue to progress with the telephone company. It's a big company with lots of opportunity if you're willing to move and accept responsibility."

And how do customers react when they call the business office, ask for the manager and find themselves talking to a woman?

"They get right down to business," says the manager. "I suppose some might blink, but that doesn't come out over the phone."

Bad weather Sunday forced the small T-41 aircraft of the AF Pre-Flight Screening Program to be placed in the hangar with this Navy plane being repaired by Gary Aircraft Corporation. And in doing so it created this "mother hen taking the chicks under her wing" look as recorded by the camera.

Anvil Herald
Dear Sirs:

Enclosed I'm sending a piece of news that I want you to please print with corrections as this makes me very proud, since I've worked for all this that has been bestowed or given me. I want to share it with my friends. As you know Medina County is included in AACOG. So, I have had some say for Medina during our monthly meetings. It is wonderful to belong to something good and not Raza Unida or other stuff that only cause trouble instead of doing or helping the needy and less fortunate than us.

Thank you very much and please correct my spelling (I need to go to school again); also, don't leave any news out as all is true.

Thank you again and will send some more as we accomplish some good things.

Yours truly,

M&M George Pletz,

Service Center
Dear Mr. and Mrs. Pletz:

Thank you for your recent letter and enclosures.

I can well appreciate your views and those of your friends and neighbors regarding sending aid to North Viet Nam. At this time there have been no specific proposals to the Congress on this subject, but I am sure any such plan will have careful scrutiny in the House and Senate.

Since we do not have specific legislation before us, I feel it premature to reach final conclusions now, but I can advise you that I do not favor foreign aid funds raised by taxes on our people going to our recent enemies when many domestic programs are being cut back by the President. There may be some validity to the argument that the President promised certain aid in working out plans for withdrawal of our forces, but I believe we should make certain we have gotten all our prisoners back and a complete accounting for men missing in action before we make any commitments for the future.

I share the views expressed in the editorials you enclosed on the many good programs being done away with by the Administration and will continue to work to maintain them; I am also inclined to agree with the editorial comment on amnesty as I strongly believe this is the greatest country on earth, and if it is worth living in, it should be worth fighting for and serving when called upon to serve.

I am grateful for your kind remarks about the job I am doing here in the Congress. Please be assured I will continue to strive to merit the trust and confidence placed in me by the good people of the 23d District.

With every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,
Abraham Kazen, Jr.

Bill Green
Dear Mr. Green,

Thank you for your invitation for a Channel 12 representative to be a judge at your Chili Cookout and Museum Day activities on May 5th.

Rick Rodriquez of the "Seven" Show, seen 7 a.m. each weekday morning, is delighted to accept. I have advised him to be at the National Guard Armory on Saturday at 10 a.m. Some background on Rick . . . he's 21, a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High here in San Antonio, a mass communications major at the University of Texas, El Paso, an alumni of KBER Radio, and KTSM-TV, El Paso, and joined the Channel 12 News staff in January of this year. He lists his interests as guitar playing, girls, the country, girls, fine foods, and girls. As you may suspect, Rick will be bringing a girl with him!

To promote Rick's visit and your Chili-Cookout, I have taken the liberty of booking you (or your appointed representative) for the "Seven" show on Friday, May 4, to talk about your Saturday activities. If one of your chili contestants is available, he might like to come along and bring a sample. Whichever, you need to be at the KSAT studio, 1408 N. St. Mary's, at 7:15 a.m. on that date. Please confirm your appearance by Friday morning, April 27, to John Wilson, host of the show.

Best regards,

Poerner's Corner

BY JOHN H. POERNER
15th LEGISLATIVE DIST.

Pollution has been a matter of concern to us all these past few years. Air, water, land and all natural resources are of vital importance to everyone in this great state.

The Environmental Protection Act (comprised of House Bill 205 by Representative Hawkins Menefee, House Bill 646 by Parker and Senate Bill 70 by Senator Jim Wallace) has been an item of much interest to many of my constituents.

These bills were designed to declare air, water and natural resources to be a public trust and give all residents and governmental agencies standing in the courts to seek injunctive relief under appropriate conditions. Those conditions would include a showing by valid evidence that the environment is endangered. Proof of danger would be upon the person or agency seeking the injunction. If these bills were passed and became laws, they would become the Environmental Protection Act of 1973.

The protection act does not provide for monetary damages, nor is it a class action statute. The district court would provide injunctive relief whenever the preponderance of the evidence established that the public trust was being endangered by the actions, or the failure to act, of any individual, corporation or unit of government.

House Bills 205 and 646 of the Environmental Protection Act have been "tabled" subject to call. This temporarily derails these pieces of legislation, however they can be recalled by a majority vote.

Opponents argued it would generate a flood of nuisance lawsuits, harrassing industry, individuals and state government while overburdening the courts as persons or groups seeking publicity misused the law to their own purposes.

However, the companion bill, Senate Bill 70, is still alive in the Senate.

DISCLOSURES

The money spent, statements and contributions made during political campaigns have been incessant sources for allegations to be made against a candidate. It is alleged that there is no regulation in the present law on contributions to, and operation of campaign committees; that enforcement only by opposing candidates and local prosecutors is inadequate; that the required campaign statements permit vagueness and evasion; and that the designated dates for reporting, leave little time for analysis and allow many campaign contributions to go unreported.

House Bill 4, part of Speaker Daniel's reform package, which passed the House April 4, is another attempt by the Legislature to have full public disclosure of the private holdings of those in the Legislature and other state officials.

Passing the House by a large majority, House Bill 4 proposes to require all campaigns and political committees to appoint political treasurers to account for all funds contributed and expended; to require the filing of campaign statements during and after campaigns; to require the keeping of signed copies of political advertising; to prohibit corporations and labor unions from giving to campaigns other than measures directly affecting them; to create a State Ethics Commission to inspect campaign records and examine campaign statements for violations of the law, and to make such statements available to the public; and to provide for appointment of poll watchers by candidates or their designated agents.

Representative Wayland Simmons of San Antonio proposed an amendment which I supported that would have required each member to file a copy of his income tax return with the Secretary of State. I believe that most people are anxious to know that their elected officials have nothing to hide and are willing to disclose their personal holdings to the public. The Amendment failed by a 3 to 1 ratio.

Hopefully, an ethics and disclosure law will eventually be passed that will give the people of Texas an insight to the wrongdoings in this state.

WHEN WAS THE LAST TIME

. . . you failed to stop for a school bus? Never, I hope, for if you did you broke the law.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reminds us:

". . . the law, which applies on city streets as well as rural highways, requires motorists moving in either direction on the same roadway or street with a school bus to stop and remain stopped as long as the flashing top red lights on the bus are in operation."

Local school bus drivers say that some drivers don't heed this law. You wouldn't be one of them, now would you?

ONLY TWO MORE

. . . Saturdays remain between now and Museum Celebration Days and we sure have some "hungry pigs".

Several young girls have worked hard to feed the pigs over the past few weeks and they are fatter but not near fat enough to auction off.

Last Saturday we had several girls working in the rain and we want them to know we certainly appreciate their volunteer efforts. They were Mary Alvarez, Lucine Villa, Suzanna Carbajal, Alice Martinez and Theresa Dominguez.

I understand that several adults really "showed themselves" when asked if they wished to feed the pigs. They know who they are and all I can say is in the name of the country western song: "I'd a writ you a letter but I couldn't spell UNK!"

Father George Stuebben was in to pick up post cards and brochures. He is leaving for Germany next month and wants to tell and show his family there about the town in America where he lives. So our post cards are going abroad again.

Phone call from Mrs. Bueker of Eagle Management and Trust in Houston requested data facts on Medina County and Hondo.

Larry Oefinger and Burnis Lawrence will represent the city and Chamber at the Fifth Annual Industrial Expansion Conference in Austin on May 10.

O. O. Shotgun Wright of Dallas sent a letter to Bill Green asking for information on the Museum Day Chili Cookoff, said: "We'll be there with our Shotgun Chili." Also says he was number 2 at Marble Falls and number 3 at Pioneer Bowl.

Travis Wilson from Brackettville Chamber of Commerce dropped by and left a post advertising their Frontier Fair on May 11. Invited artists to enter Arts & Craft show and anyone else who wants to come and have a good time. He also said he and three or four others will be here on Museum Day and is placing our flyers around Brackettville. Thanks, Mr. Wilson.

We also received posters and brochures on the Texas State Arts & Craft Fair May 25-28 in Kerrville. Sounds like a lot of fun.

Lt. (Ret.) Thomas Mullenniex of San Antonio stopped by for brochures and maps.

We received a letter from the Downtown Burgundy Motor Inn in New Orleans telling us their location. I have sent for brochures.

Dr. Willis G. Youenz, Jr. of Wiemer wrote about hunting leases--doves and quail.

The Barristers are coming!

Batten down the chili pots, for the Brazos Barristers, Inc. are coming May 5 in full strength from St. Mary's University Law School to do battle for the title of best chili cooks in South Texas.

Hunter Schuehle, a native Hondoan who attends the school, is a member of the group that travels the state competing in chili cooks, barbecue cooks and what-have-you. "We are going to win the first annual South Texas Championship Chili Cook," they say.

Brazos Barristers, Inc. is (or is it are) sponsored by Lone Star Beer and Hunter said, "We use no water in our chili, cooked from part venison, only good certified Lone Star Beer."

And that's just what they make, Certified Chili.

The group is defending champion of the Uvalde Arama barbecue event, but Hunter pointed out, "We want everyone to know we prefer Hondo this year and are coming full force."

Forty law students and some lawyers comprise Brazos Barristers, Inc. and they have turned in some impressive performances at other places: second and third in the big Hotel Senesta chili cook in Houston, third in Turlingui, first at Uvalde, second and third at the San Marcos Chilympiad, first at Marble Falls the past two years--and now Hondo.

Right after Museum Day the group will go to Hallettsville and cook at the State Domino Championship.

Along with Hunter in the group are Bob Eason of San Antonio, Caddo Studdard of Carthage, Gary Hahne of Stonewall, Sid Cowan of El Paso, Gary Hill of Longview and I. E. Valenta of Hallettsville.

True to our predictions, we are happy to submit this rain map to cover rain fall for Sat.&Sun., April 14-15th, 1973.

This map does not include rainfall of this Tues.AM.(17th) which amounted to 1.35. A queer coincidence, however, during this rain the Moon was Full at 7:51 a.m.

In answer to many questions- When will we get another rain? Mr. Chapman and I will go on record, and promise another rain for our area the last week in April-73. April 26 - 30. T-C Service

This week

All she wrote

by Edna McDade

"April prepares her traffic light and the world thinks GO!", according to Christopher Morley. Then, according to our unpredictable Texas, the weather thinks "Whoa, hold on there a few days" . . . which might be one way to describe winter's recent curtain calls this past week.

It wasn't cold enough to hurt the growing green things but it made me grateful to have the kind of indoor weather that responds to the turn of a thermostat.

Just around the calendar comes that old Daylight S[l]aving time again and, like it not, it seems destined to be with us always, although the Texas Legislature approaches it from both the for-and-against angles every year.

Bumper stickers blossom anew each spring. A news story says, "The first ones were made of heavy cardboard attached to bumpers by wire AROUND the turn of the century.

Were the same method used now, the wire would have to be almost 74 years long, and some wire if it hadn't rusted.

A Volkswagen hurrying along Ocean Drive hete pleaded "Don't honk, I'm pedaling as fast as I can."

The postal service is not above reproach [or was it suspicion] as Mrs. Caeser was supposed [or ought to] have been. It was completely exonerated in a note from BILL BERGER when the family's Christmas card reached me about ten days ago.

"This time it isn't the PO's fault," said Bill, "it is ME. Oh, Lordy I've been bizzzy!"

I enjoyed the card and the note which gave a Christmas-y lift to an otherwise uneventful day.

Although I have not met the BILL [Linda] BUTLERs and their young son, RHETT, [Dan's Drug], I'm glad to know that they are now living in what was my home [2807 Ave. L] for almost nine years -- even if it did belong to JESSE and ZELDA STEPHENS.

The Butlers will find they're in a mighty friendly neighborhood.

Among the no-nos in the British House of Commons are such ungentlemanly epithets as liar, rat, stoolpigeon etc. etc. Heading the list of such unapproved unparliamentary language is the mere mention of lying in any form.

Not all members are as gifted as was the late Winston Churchill whose rhetoric was equal to any emergency. When he had to withdraw an accusation of lying, he simplified [?] it by saying his opponent was guilty of a "teminological inexactitude". Add that to your vocabulary, in case of emergency.

The Museum Day publicity and pictures make me eager to be among those present for the big celebration. Sounds like all plans are really GO and "nothing succeeds like success."

To destroy aphids which plague the lemon platations in the state of Colima, the Mexico Vegetable Health General Board has released 11 million ladybugs to eat all they want in 57,000 acres of lemon groves.

I learned [thanks to my dictionary] Como-se-llaman-ladybugs-en-Espanol. "Mariquita de San Anton". And "mariquita" also means "an effiminate man" -- a sissy perhaps? Why they eminate from "San Anton", quien sabe?

Anyway, there's nothing sissy about the little bugs which are now setting about the business of saving Mexico's industry [in Colima] which yields $4 million annually, at a cost of about eight cents per acre, compared with $4.80 for chemical insecticides. Ain't Nature grand when man seeks to avail himself of her many services?

If you're feeling puny, here are a few first aid services as offered by some Edmonds, Washington, fourth graders in a health quiz:

"For nose bleed, put the nose lower than the body . . . For snakebite, bleed the wound and rape the victim in a blanket for shock . . . for fainting, rub the person's chest or if it is a lady, rub her arm above the hand . . . for head colds, use an agonizer until it drops in the throat."

May you all live in good health and save on doctor bills!

Boy Scouts plan for Cleanup

SAN ANTONIO -- With the emphasis on initiative and effort by every Scout unit, Scout leaders in Hondo and Medina County this week were being asked to get their troops and packs ready for cleanup Saturday, April 28, in the third annual "Keep America Beautiful Day".

Scout officials here said 10,000 Scouts and leaders participated in KAB Day in 1971 and over 10,000 last year.

"This year we are letting leaders of each unit decide where and how they will carry out a particular cleanup effort," announced Melvin Sueltenfuss, chairman of SOAR--Save Our American Resources--for Alamo Area Council.

"Efforts at cleanup should be made within areas, neighborhoods, and communities of the units," Sueltenfuss explained.

"The work should be targeted to pick up all types of litter and refuse in the area, clean playgrounds, help out in sprucing up parks.

"We are out to test the initiative and ability of units in our 13 counties to organize and carry out this great conservation effort on their own. They are to plan it, make arrangement for having the collection of rubbish picked up, and direct all operations," Sueltenfuss said.

He said plastic bags for refuse are being furnished by Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of San Antonio and can be picked up at the Council Scout Service Center here.

The dance will be held in connection with the Museum Day Celebration and 90's style dress is optional, but judges will be appointed to give the prize.

Judges will be Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bader, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Koch, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Flory. The prize will be presented by Mayor J. G. Barry.

Music for the dance will be provided by Ronnie Mason and his Western Swingers.

Stop for school bus, warns Texas DPS director Speir

AUSTIN -- A reminder on the State law about motorists stopping for school buses was issued today by Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Speir said the law, which applies on city streets as well as rural highways, requires motorists moving in either direction on the same roadway or street with a school bus to stop and remain stopped as long as the flashing top red lights on the bus are in operation.

He said the problem is becoming more serious in cities due to increased use of school buses in urban school districts.

There are only two exceptions to the law on stopping for loading or unloading a school bus: Those vehicles on another roadway of a divided highway (divided by median or physical barrier) are not required to stop, and stops are not required if the bus has stopped in a loading zone of a controlled access highway where pedestrians are not permitted to cross.

Speir said the problem of school bus accidents is of concern to law enforcement officials and educators throughout Texas. Only a few weeks ago, the Travis County Grand Jury urged the news media to publicize the law about stopping and not passing a school bus which is loading or unloading children.

The grand jury noted that serious criminal charges might result if a motorist disregards this law.

GREAT GOING . . . is what Tony Mendoza of the Anvil Herald staff seems to be telling Mrs. Mary H. Urretia at Peden's Rexall Drug on presenting her with a $10 certificate for being selected third in the Outstanding Salesperson contest sponsored by the newspaper during January, February and March. The certificate is good at any of the 35 stores that participated in the Trade In Hondo promotion. [Photo by Joe Fohn]

RC&D sets priorities

Members of the Medina County RC&D committee of the Alamo Area Council of Governments met last Thursday to set priorities regarding county needs in water and land use.

Chairman Harlan Wolff will present Medina County proposals before a future meeting of chairmen from the other ten counties in AACOG. At that time, efforts will be made to procure federal and state aid for projects deemed urgent.

Four areas were considered under water resource management: water supply, flood water management, sewer systems and irrigation. Under each of these, sub-areas were rated according to their importance to the county.

City water supplies for Devine, Quihi, Dunlay, Biry, Yancey and Natalia were considered uppermost over recharge development, irrigation, and industrial uses.

Under flood management, the Seco Creek watershed was considered most important because of the threat to population that flooding there poses. Others, in order, were the Hondo Creek watershed, and the Verde-Quihi watershed. Also considered were the San Geronimo, Black Creek, San Francisco and Chacon Creek watersheds.

For sewer system placement, Natalia was judged to have top priority in the count. It was followed by the Medina Lake area and expansion in Hondo and Devine.

Under irrigation, irrigation well development took precedence over the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water Improvement District #1, which is fed from Medina Lake.

The rapid, uncontrolled development of the Medina Lake area took top priority under development problems, followed by the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa District near Natalia and Devine. Other areas considered were Castroville, Devine, Natalia, Hondo and Tarpley.

Also considered under land use was the effect of development of wilderness areas on Medina County's endangered plant species.

Devine was judged to have the most urgent needs in solid waste management, followed by Medina Lake area and Dunlay.

Parks needed in the county included possible sites in Devine, Hondo and Devine-Natalia.

Ponds over 40 acres, which can merit federal aid if used for recreation, were judged next most important.

Extreme erosion and sedimentation during floods on the Medina River prompted the committee to place that river first in erosion control needs.

Next in order were Seco and Hondo Creeks, then all other creeks in the county. Also considered was prevention and control of roadside erosion.

The county deer harvest too is top priority in wildlife control for the county, followed by brush control, predator controls and food plantings for doves and quail.

Land Use Management

Uncontrolled development, solid waste management, recreation, wildlife, and erosion sedimentation control covered the spectrum of Land Use Management at the meeting, and priorities were set in each of these areas for the county.

Grain selection raises yields

Each year in Medina County the County Extension Agents in cooperation with County producers conduct various types of result demonstrations. Some of these demonstrations include variety test plots of corn and grain sorghum.

Some of the same varieties are planted each year to compare them to new varieties that are released by various seed companies. In fact, says County Agent Glenn Bragg, it is impossible to plant every new variety that is available on the present market.

However, average yields in Medina County continue to increase as a result of careful selection of grain sorghum and corn varieties. Medina County farmers are demanding greater performance as they use higher quality seed and apply more specific management practices to these crops. Today's farmer no longer stops with asking his seed dealer for only so many pounds or bushels of seed to plant. He asks for a hybrid that will fit his needs and return a profit. He wants to know about maturity time, disease resistance, slantability, height, response to fertilizer and production level.

We are striving to meet the Medina County farmer's needs by testing some of the more promising new varieties that are developed.

This year in Medina County three grain sorghum varieties test plots have been planted. The plots are located on the Harlan Wolff farm north of D'Hanis, Emmett Wurzbach farm north of Rio Medina and Robert Burrell farm north of Castroville. There are from 6 to 8 new varieties in each plot being compared to 5 to 6 older varieties presently being produced in Medina County. There are corn variety test plots located on the Van Damme farms in Devine, Glenn Gooding farm in Hondo and the Julius Aelvoet farm in Hondo.

Data will be collected on yields, disease resistance, standability and other factors needed for top production. This information will then be published and made available to county producers and other interested persons such as seed dealers.

This year four varieties of soybeans will be tested on the Glenn Gooding farm.

The county agent feels that this information is valuable to county producers as a tool to aid them in making the best decision in selecting a top yielding hybrid to plant.

BUILDING TRADES HOUSE . . . It looks like any other home on Elaine Drive, but this one is being built by students of the Hondo High School Building Trades class taught by Jack Heath. Completion date for the home is around June 1.

Building class completes house

Hondo High School's Building Trades Class is about to finish the largest class project every undertaken by a Hondo school group.

When finished about the end of school, the project, a full-size home located at 2206 Elaine Drive in western Hondo, will be a testimonial to the ability of Hondo teenagers to learn a skill within the school system.

The Building Trades program is a new vocational class added to the curriculum this year. It involves cooperation between the school and a sponsor, the Alamo Lumber Company, to construct a home and place it on the housing market.

When construction began in January, the students of Instructor Jack Heath knew the fundamentals of carpentry, plumbing, and electrical installation, but they had learned it all from books and laboratory exercises in the Lacy Gym.

But once the job, all the book-learning fell into place, and the approximately 20 boys that make up the program learned the practical side of construction.

Although they did not pour the foundation, the eager students learned and observed as it was laid by experienced crews. From the foundation up, however, they have built the frame and sheeting, roofing, and indoor walls of the house. They also installed all electrical wiring for the home, including central heating facilities. In the past two weeks, they will install plumbing and sheetrock, then their portion of the task will be complete.

All that will remain for professional workmen will be kitchen cabinets and the brick veneer walls of the structure.

The finished home is expected to sell within the $15,000 price range, and it will be sold by Alamo Lumber Company. Alamo manager Bud Johnson is satisfied with the workmanship of the apprentice house-builders.

"So far, they have easily passed all FHA inspections, and I expect they'll do all right in the final ones, too," reported Johnson.

Will they build more? Heath and other school officials feel that this is only the beginning of a fine program for Hondo, which will lead to many more houses being built through the program.

It's the ideal program for a school and community. It fulfills a need, helps the business community, and most importantly, teaches pride, skills, and self confidence to a group of hard-working youth.

I'll take on the whole Air Force

TSgt Pete Pike of the Hondo detachment of the 2015 Communications Squadron at Randolph, doesn't really know if he's the best chili cook in the Air Force, but he's going to lay claim to being until some Air Force chili expert shows him otherwise.

And Pike has a place where they can try to beat him at the chili cooking game.

"I am entered in the first annual South Texas Championship Cookoff being held Saturday, May 5, at the Museum Day Celebration in Hondo," he said. "And it's going to take a pretty fair country chili cook to make me back down."

Pike even entered that as a challenge. "I'll take on anyone in the Air Force, and especially in the Air Training Command," he declared in throwing down the chili gauntlet.

Now, Pike is no novice chili cook; not exactly that is. He's entered a few "for fun" chili cooks around Hondo and Medina County and then he took on the big ones at the San Marcos Chilympiad.

It's a fact, and Pike agrees to it, that he did not fare too hot, placewise, in that contest. "But don't let that lull you to sleep," he said to any would-be challengers. "I'll still beat anyone around."

Taking upon his challenge in the Hondo event is MSgt Dave Knight, one of his Hondo site-mates, who really thinks Pete is just bragging.

"That slogan he has on his apron--A Wizard At Work--has nothing to do with chili cooking," Knight said in letting Pike know he had one taker in the contest. "And come May 5 in Hondo we'll show him up but good."

Challengers to Pike and Knight may make it official with a $5 entry fee mailed to Bill Green, Box 147, Hondo, Texas 78861. They will also need to bring five pounds of meat on May 5 to begin their cooking in time to meet a 1 p.m. judging deadline.

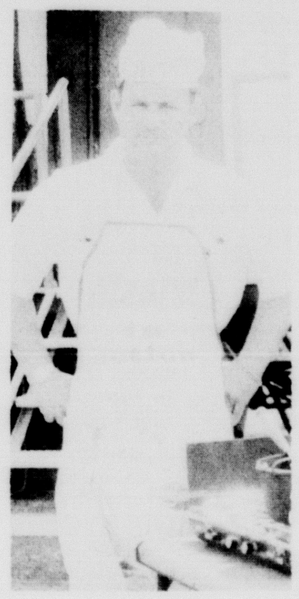

Pike also adds another treat to the contest. He has entered the homemade bread baking contest. "Oh, I've been practicing," he admitted when asked about invading the domain of the fairer sex (women's lib members please excuse).

Chili cooking is fun Pike says and if so, this will blend in perfectly with the theme of the Museum Celebration Days. The first day (May 5) is filled with such events as an Art Show and Sale, a Country Store, bingo, chicken barbecue, hay rides, pony rides, tobacco spitting, hollering, horseshoe pitching, square dancing and plenty of music.

"We're going to have a hot time in Hondo on May 5," Pike and Knight said in inviting all chili cooks and fun lovers. "And it won't all be found over the chili pot."

Second day of the big event, proceeds from which go to the operation of the Medina County Museum housed in a renovated 1897 railway depot, is a growing Antique Auction where one can find clocks, chairs, dressers, trunks, insulators, bottles and many other items that delight collectors' hearts.

"Y'all come and try to beat us at chili," the two Air Force men said, "and at the same time come to enjoy fun for the entire family."

TSgt. Pete Pike

Guys & Dolls Tourney termed a 'success'

The Hondo Women's Golf Association hosted a full field of 72 players at their annual Guys and Dolls Tournament on Sunday, April 15th.

Inclement weather forced the tournament to be called after nine holes of play.

Winners of the event were the following two teams that tied for first place with a low ball score of 28 points: LeRoy Langford, Marge Bali, Dave Bonnett, Wesley Huesser and Tom Heickman, Steve Haby, Gene McKeeney, Inez Short.

Tied for second place with a score of 29 points were: Curtis Neice, Emma Fell, Dr. Robert Eckert, Marvin Molberg; and Walter Windsor, Evelyn Winkler, Frank Foster and Dewey Alexander.

A supper was served to the entrants of the tournament and their guests. It consisted of turkey casserole, candied yams, cole slaw and cobbler.

OUT-OF-TOWN

Local gal golfers journeyed to out-of-town tournaments during the month of March and April. Chris Chapa was the fourth flight low net winner at Chaparrel Women's Invitational in Seguin.

Sue Ann Graff and Ardyce Vincent were winners in the Florida Scramble sponsored by Lackland Ladies Association at Lackland Air Force Base.

Evelyn Winkler and Nancy Sanders were first place team winners at Brackenridge Ladies Invitational played at Brackenridge Golf Course.

Evelyn Winkler was the winner of a large planted terrarium for getting closest to the hole on a par three.

PLAY DAY

The second Tuesday of every month is play day for the local gal golfers.

Anyone wishing to join is cordially invited to be a member of the Hondo Women's Golf Association. Inez Short is club president.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Tired of not catching fish?

That's a common complaint at certain "slack" seasons of the year—especially days when the temperatures are high.

Naturally the easy answer to the problem is to fish at night. Then the water is cooler by several degrees. As a consequence of the temperature changes the big bass move up from the depths and into shallow water where again it's comfortable and there's new food to be found.

Anglers who like to hear the explosion of a lunker bass in the still of the night as it smacks a top water lure with all of its dynamic power—use a chuggar, or a popper or a stick with spinners fore and aft.

Let this happen alongside the boat, as it sometimes does and you'll not only get a thrill but the sensation of a cold chill running up and down your spine . . . despite the warm night.

One who seeks the bass in the hot daytime weather, needs a different approach. He has to fish deep—real deep. Big bass seek not only the shade to escape the hot rays of the sun, but also the cooler water (around 68°) which may be 30 to 60 feet deep if the weather has been very warm for some time.

First of all one needs a worm rod and a bait casting reel for this job, with 20 pound-test line or stronger. That is, if he wants to land a lunker.

This time the lure needs to be a plastic worm, preferably the small seven-inch size in strawberry red, brown, blue or black.

Fish off of a point from boat to bank, shallow water to deep, using a slip sinker heavy enough to keep the worm crawling slowly along the bottom . . . deeper, deeper and deeper, until you feel that longed-for "telltale tap" that means a strike.

If at first you don't succeed, change worms until you find a color or combination of colors, to his liking. A white-tailed worm is great!

If still no luck, try longer worms!

Failing there, tie on a jig and eel and bounce 'em off the bottom in the deepest hole you can find. Here, a depth finder comes in mighty handy.

Don't give up — they gotta eat sometime!

Owl golfers in fifth place

KINGSVILLE -- Boling of District 26-AA breezed to its fourth consecutive Region IV-AA golf championship last weekend with a 45-stroke victory on the Alice Country Club course.

The Bulldogs had a 36-hole team total of 608 while Refugio No. 1 finished second with 653. Hondo finished fifth in the contest, while District member Medina Valley took third place.

Boling had four of the top five individuals in the meet. Brent Watkins was medalist with a 146. Teammate David Simpson was second with a 151, Randy Greebon of Refugio was third with a 152, and Boling's Randy Watkins and Bill Edwards were fourth and fifth with scores of 155 and 156, respectively.

Team scores behind Boling and Refugio No. 1 were Medina Valley 671, Randolph 676, Hondo 680, Kenedy 686, Goliad 704, Palacios 707, Laredo United 709, Refugio No. 2 729, Los Fresnos 767, Lyford 812 and Boerne 852.

Brian Finger led Hondo players with a 161 score, good enough for 8th place in individual standings.

Other Hondo players were Mark Graff at 171, Wayne Westbrook at 173, Randall Hare at 175, and James Leverett with a 184. Leading District 28-AA individuals was Glynn Tschirhart, who fired a 156 to tie for fifth place.

Regional Track tough on Owls

KINGSVILLE -- Refugio repeated as the Region IV-AA track and field champion here last weekend and qualified five individuals for the Class AA state meet next month.

The Bobcats amassed 80 points while Boling finished second with 63. The team champion had 52 points after the five field events and was never seriously threatened during the remainder of the meet.

Boling and Tidehaven, both from District 26-AA, led in the gold medal production, each winning three.

Refugio led in the number of qualifiers for the state meet with its five.

Hondo gathered only six points in the meet, on Gene McAnelly's fourth place in the 100-Yard Dash and Keith Ligon's fifth place Discus Throw of 138', 3".

A fluke of nature caused a standout performance of the Hondo 440-Relay team to go by the boards.

In the opening event of the tourney, Hondo took second place to Boling in the 440-Relay. Just as the event was concluded, a heavy rain hit the track and forced its move to an all-weather track at a nearby school.

Upon reopening the meet, the original 440-Yard Relay was discarded, and a new first heat was held. Hondo ran into precision problems in the baton handoff on this try, and took fourth place missing a berth in the finals.

Two District 28-AA teams, Carrizo Springs and Dilley, earned 12 points each in the meet to lead district contestants. Devine followed closely with 10, then Hondo with 6, Pearsall with 3, and Medina Valley with one.

Carrizo's Albert Perales took a first place in the Mile Run to gain ten of those points for the Wildcats and Quirino Gutierrez gained ten points for Dilley for his first-place showing in the 880-Yard Dash. Those two were the only District 28-AA cindermen to advance to the State Tourney.

First and second place winners will advance to the State Track Meet to be held in Austin May 3-5.

Mario Arellano of Premont was the only double winner in the individual events, and also broke the only record in the meet. He won the 220-Yard Dash with a time of 21.6, erasing the record 21.8 set by Don Washington of Palacios in 1967. Arellano had equalled the mark in the preliminaries.

Arellano also took the 100-Yard Dash with a time of 9.8.

Billy Waddy of Boling was the big gold medal winner in the meet. He won the 440-Yard Dash, and ran on the winning 440-Yard and Mile Relay teams.

Ronnie Crenshaw of Mathis equalled his own record in the 330-Yard Intermediate Hurdles with a winning time of 39.2. Bobby Schmidt of Lyford also had a 39.2 and finished second in the event. He had earlier won the 120-Yard High Hurdles.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and answers

QUESTION: I'm 73 and get social security retirement checks. I haven't worked in nearly 5 years, but a friend has offered me a job and I'm thinking of taking it. Is there any restriction on how much I can earn and still get my full social security checks?

ANSWER: No. Since you are over 72, there is no restriction on how much you can earn while getting social security payments.

QUESTION: My sister works as a cook in several private homes and I work seasonally as a cook in a hotel. Since we both do the same kind of work, don't both of us get social security credit for what we're paid?

ANSWER: Not necessarily. Since you are employed by a firm operated for profit, you get credit under social security for all your earnings up to $10,800 a year. However, your sister is a household employee. For her earnings to be credited under social security, she must be paid at least $50 in cash wages by one employer during a quarter.

QUESTION: I've just completed my first claim for payment of some doctor bills under Medicare, and I'm ready to mail it. Does a social security office have to review it before I send it in?

ANSWER: No, your claim does not have to be reviewed by a social security office. However, if you aren't sure that it's correct, you may take it to a social security office. The people there will review it and forward it to the Medicare office for you.

QUESTION: My brother, who's 49, can't work because of a heart condition. He gets income every month from a small apartment he rents, and he claims he can't get disability benefits from social security because of this rental income. Is he right?

ANSWER: No. Even though your brother has rental income, he can get monthly social security disability payments if he is found eligible for them. Have your brother call, wirte, or visit any social security office as soon as possible to apply.

QUESTION: I'll be 72 in August. Although I signed up for Medicare when I was 65, I couldn't get any monthly retirement benefits because I was working and earning too much. However, after I'm 72, I understand I can keep right on working and still get my full benefits. Do I have to apply for these payments after my 72nd birthday?

ANSWER: No. Your payments will start automatically with the month of your 72nd birthday. Since you continued to work without getting benefits after 65, you can now qualify for special delayed retirement credits. These credits will increase your benefit amount one percent for each year--or one-twelfth of one percent for every month--after 1970 that you worked and didn't collect monthly payments.

QUESTION: My father, who gets a small monthly social security check, is still working. He told me it takes a year for him to get his benefit rate increased because of his new yearly earnings. If this is true, isn't he losing some benefits?

ANSWER: No. Even though there is a delay in refiguring your father's benefit rate, he gets all the increase due him at one time. The refiguring of the rate is usually done in the last 3 months of the year to take into consideration all social security earnings for the previous year, and any increase due is retroactive to January.

QUESTION: My son is 38 and totally blind. When he applied for monthly social security disability payments last year, he was told that he hadn't worked recently enough to get benefits. I heard that changes in the social security law change the work requirement for blind people. Is this true?

ANSWER: Yes. A person who becomes disabled by blindness still needs a certain number of social security work credits, but he no longer has to have the credit for recent work required of other disabled workers. For example, your son, who became blind in 1972, needs credit for 4 years of work under social security, but it doesn't matter when the credits were earned.
